

AiniTech – Home page

Best Technology Company in HongKong

Ainitech is Hong Kong based Technology Company offering top-notch services in Website development, Mobile App development, and ERP system development. We guarantee that you won't only be satisfied with our results, but you will love it.

We are expert in our field. It means that we can tackle any problem ranges from most natural to the toughest. Ainitech has vast experience in website designing and development, which help us creating amazing websites that will surely rank top on different search engines.

How Ainitech works?

The client is our priority. We take a fresh idea from our clients, and then our experts analyze the plan. Once the analysis is done, our developer then does in-depth research. In other words, they do proper research on that idea and then suggest the client with brilliant outcomes.

We also show our portfolio to make it easy for the client to either choose or show a raw version of his idea. Once the client is satisfied, then we bring their approach into reality so that they can bring their business to the online platform.

We provide our clients with unlimited revisions. If the client is confused with something, we will love to hear from them so that we can provide what our client wants. We don't charge a single penny if our client isn't satisfied with the result.

Our Team

Our team is leading with the cooperation of highly talented developers, designers, system architects, and testers. They also possess exceptional communication skills to remove the barriers while communicating with national as well as international clients. The team is very hard working and professional to deliver the clients what we commit. We can assure you that our team will win your heart by their high-quality work.

Web Development/Web Design

One of the keys to SEO is web design. This means that better the web design the best chances for your website to rank on top. Ainitech can also create UX web design and UI web design too. We gather all different ingredients together and integrate them to create an amazing website which will show your business in a creative, convincing and accurate way.

Our key to success is innovation. We are proud to say that our designs are very unique and will surely be pleasant to you as well as your viewers as well. Our designers are not just creative but they have knowledge of how to bring rhythm, contrast, emphasis, and balance to create a better design.

Our specialty is that we produce digital experiences that are instinctive. We will also combine it with a user-friendly CMS so that it can allow your organization to easily handle site as well as updated content.

The biggest advantage of having us is that our workers follow the principles of open-source, standards-based, effective algorithms and coding schemes since the beginning. The tools we use for designing are HTML, CSS, and JavaScript. We use WordPress and Drupal; PHP and its offspring to create dynamic websites that will help in Google ranking.

We are one of the best companies in Hong Kong which provide not just web development but also web designing as well. It is a guarantee that you will love our work.

ERP System Development

Ainitech also provides ERP system development. We will provide you technical and business advisory services as well as support from large multi-national firms to small firms. We got experience and professional developers who will help your business to unlock the productivity benefits as well as cost-savings of cloud-based ERP solutions. This will also avoid the common pitfalls of IT deployments.

Our past experience has made us more effective which help us to develop our methodology. Our methodology will not only assure you of effective business but it will be cost effective as well.

Mobile App Development

Ainitech is also a mobile app development company which just not only develop mobile apps but also develop software solution for backend application. We are proud of our creativity and vital to help our customers to adopt their business. It also creates a new value from the ever-changing technologies and environment.

You will find us sincere, professionals and commitment to our words. That is why Ainitech to be a long-term reliable partner.